Dear Local 770 Rite Aid Member:

Rite Aid management is questioning your union's decision to oppose their merger with Walgreens. We want to be sure you understand why your union is hiring an anti-trust attorney to oppose the Rite-Aid/Walgreens merger. So here are the reasons:

- There is no guarantee that Walgreens will not close stores.
- There is no guarantee that Walgreens will continue to abide by the union contract and pay for your health care and pension benefits.
- There is no guarantee that divested stores will stay open or abide by the union contract and pay your current wages and benefits.

Despite what Rite-Aid says, their agreement with Walgreens and their proposal to the Federal government have NO GUARANTEES that you will keep your wages, retirement, contract, or even your job. Read Rite Aid's letter carefully: there are no guarantees, but the letter does encourage you to ask questions. We agree that you should call the company representatives listed in the letter and ask some of the following questions:

- How long is the buyer of a divested store required to keep it open?
- Is the buyer required to continue to employ everyone?
- Is the buyer required to sign the union contract and pay for the same health care and pension benefits?
- If the buyer does close my store, like Haggen did, will I have bumping and recall rights?
- Is Walgreens required to keep all of the non-divested stores open?
- Is Walgreens required to keep all of the employees in non-divested stores?
- Is Walgreens required to honor the union contract and pay for my health care and pension benefits in non-divested stores?

Right now, nobody knows the answers to these questions. Walgreens is negotiating with the government in secret. If those talks produce a deal that protects your rights, your union will welcome it. But we have to be ready to act swiftly if Walgreens gets a deal that jeopardizes our members. That's why we hired an anti-trust attorney to oppose the merger and protect your job and your benefits.

Please contact your union representative if you have any questions.

Fraternally,

UFCW LOCAL 770
